

Corporate Learning Institute Presents Holiday Card Factory

A great option for organizations with a tight budget!

This high-energy event truly brings out the fun and creativity in any group. The large group is divided into smaller teams, or card companies, for which they create a company name and logo. The team participates in creative team building exercises to earn their materials. Teams then design as many holiday cards as possible.

This is an excellent event, focusing on customer service, teamwork and creativity. Teams are evaluated in several categories, and the team who scores the highest amount of points is announced the winner, and appropriate prizes are awarded, based on your input and budget. The cards are then given to a non-profit organization, with a representative accepting them in front of the group.
